

Surry Hills

City of Sydney

Surry Hills is an inner-city suburb of Sydney, in the state of New South Wales. Surry Hills is immediately South-East of the Sydney central business district in the local government area of the City of Sydney. Surry Hills is surrounded by the suburbs of Darlinghurst to the North, Chippendale and Haymarket to the West, Moore Park and Paddington to the East and Redfern to the South.

Surry Hills boasts a diverse range of cafes and restaurants serving a wide variety of cooking styles and cultures. The suburb has one of the highest concentration of restaurants. Local well-known chefs include: Andrew Cibej, Bill Granger and Kylie Kwong. Because of its industrial and commercial history, the Surry Hills area also contains a significant number of pubs. The style of pubs range from the Victorian period, to Federation and Art Deco pubs from the mid-1900s. Many of these have been refurbished in recent years to include restaurants and modern facilities.

Central railway station is the largest station on the Sydney Trains and NSW TrainLink networks, located on the Western edge of Surry Hills. Surry Hills is also serviced by State Transit Authority buses. The Eastern Distributor is a major road, on the Eastern edge of the suburb. Major thoroughfares are Crown Street, Cleveland Street, Bourke Street and Foveaux Street. Surry Hills is within easy walking distance of the Sydney CBD, and is included in a widening network of cycleways.

Education;

Schools in the Surry Hills area include:

- Bourke Street Public School
- Crown Street Public School
- Sydney Community College
- Sydney Boys High School
- Sydney Girls High School

The 'Australian Institute of Music' Sydney Campus is also located in Surry Hills.

Sport;

Some great Clubs to join in the area include:

- Jensen's Tennis Centre
- Rapha Cycle Club
- Kenja Social & Sporting Club

