

Heidelberg

City of Banyule

Heidelberg is a suburb of Melbourne, Australia, 13 km North-East of Melbourne's central business district. Its local government area is the City of Banyule.

Heidelberg is home of the Heide Museum of Modern Art.

The Heidelberg Shopping Centre, known as "Burgundy Street" has recently been revived. It had become rundown in the 1980s, but a new supermarket, and many trendy cafes have really livened the area up and helped to increase the local population.

The Austin Hospital is based in Heidelberg. The Austin Hospital site has recently undergone extensive renovations, and now also contains the Mercy Hospital for Women. These two facilities combined measure up to be largest hospital in Victoria.

The Northern Melbourne Institute of TAFE has a campus at Heidelberg, as well as the private TAFE College KAL Multimedia Training.

Heidelberg Railway Station is located on the Hurstbridge line. There are local bus transport hub services the area. However most residents in the Heidelberg area tend to use their own Private Vehicles for Transportation.

Sport;

Heidelberg United are a soccer club based in the suburb, which competes in the Victorian Premier League and plays second tier to the A-League. They once competed in the National Soccer League.

Heidelberg Football Club, an Australian Rules Football Club, competes in the Northern Football League and are based out of Warringal Parklands. Heidelberg West Football Club, also in the Northern League play at Heidelberg Park just opposite Warringal.

Golfers play at the Heidelberg Golf Club on Main Road, in the neighboring suburb of Lower Plenty.

Education;

There are many schools in the Heidelberg area; below are a few:

- Heidelberg Primary School
- Heidelberg High School
- Our Lady of Mercy College
- St Johns Primary School
- Austin School
- OLMC Heidelberg

